Virtual instruction for the New Jersey Real Estate Salesperson course is a new and temporary course delivery method. It is, for now, approved by the New Jersey Real Estate Commission while we deal with the present public health emergency. At some point we expect to transition back to a classroom format. There is no way to know when that will be. You should understand that you may not be able to complete the entire course using the virtual format if the New Jersey Real Estate Commission does not allow us to do so. However, they have given us some indication that if a student begins a course online, they will be permitted to complete it online.
